

Exhibit B

Chicago Backflow has been one of the leaders in backflow prevention since 1993. Family owned and operated, CBI employs 12 backflow inspectors that are out and about covering the Chicagoland area every day. When asked what sets CBI apart from other companies that offer backflow testing, my answer to them is simple. Backflow prevention is our daily life, our niche. While there may be some plumbers that also carry a license to inspect and certify backflow preventers, these plumbers are not one in the same with a licensed CCCDI inspector that works full time on backflow prevention assemblies. Most plumbers may have their days filled with service tickets varying from replacing leaky faucets, rodding toilets, etc, then testing one or two backflow preventers here and there. Certified Backflow Inspectors employed by Chicago Backflow have their hands in backflow prevention assemblies all day every day.

This makes us the best in the business when it matters most – your failing backflow assemblies. Each of our Certified Inspectors carries an extensive stock of backflow parts on their truck. CBI inspectors will expertly dismantle your device, assess the repairs needed, come back inside with the necessary parts and get you back up and running before you can say ‘backflow incident’.

All Inclusive Service for FirstService Residential

Our all-inclusive backflow testing service includes: testing & tagging your device on site and filing your results via the required platform online. In addition, any devices that have internal parts that are failing will be repaired right on the spot. For the next 12 months, each device is covered under the All-Inclusive warranty, meaning if any of your backflow preventers start to drip/leak/spray, we will come back out and service the device at no additional charge. (If for any reason the device can not be repaired, you will be provided with a separate replacement quote).
